MASS. SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH
APR 9 1966
BOSTON

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, BOSTON, Jan. 27, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate and the House of Representatives.

I have the honor to submit herewith, in compliance with section 265, chapter 11 of the Revised Laws, a report of the number of assessed polls, the number of registered male and female voters at the date of the last annual State election and city and town elections, and the total number of persons, both male and female, who voted at each such election in each city and town, and in every voting precinct of the several cities and towns, together with the number of votes received by each candidate for a State office at the last annual State election, arranged by cities, towns and districts.

In compliance with that portion of the law quoted above which refers to other matters relating to elections and to suggestions thereon, I call the attention of the General Court to the subject of voting machines.

In his inaugural message His Excellency Governor Douglas was pleased to say : "In several States voting by machinery has stood the test of successful experiment, reducing the liability of error and facilitating the work of totalizing the result. As yet Massachusetts has not interested itself in election machinery, and I would therefore recommend the subject to your consideration."

There seems to be some misapprehension on this point. Voting machine legislation in Massachusetts dates back to 1893, when an act (chapter 465) was passed "To authorize towns to use the McTammany automatic ballot machines at elections of town officers."

In 1895 by a joint order of the Legislature, the Secretary, Treasurer and Auditor were requested to examine into the merits of voting machines, and report to the next General Court what legislation was necessary for their adoption. Under this order the designated officers examined five machines, and submitted a general report (House, No. 998 of 1896).

In 1896 an act (chapter 498) was passed "To authorize cities and towns to use the McTammany voting machines in State, city and town elections," under which act fifty of those machines were purchased by the State and used at the State election that year, forty-eight in Worcester and two in Boxborough. In neither place were they used again, and the machines, which cost the Commonwealth $12,500, were finally sold for old material, for less than $250.

By an act of 1898 (chapter 548), the Secretary, Treasurer and Auditor were constituted a board to examine counting and voting machines and apparatus, and provision was made for the purchase and use by cities and towns of such machines as the board should approve. Several machines were examined and approved, from time to time, among them the United States, in 1898; the Ellis, in 1899; the Bardwell Votometer, in 1900; the Standard, in 1901; and the Columbia, in 1903. In each case the board published and sent to all city and town clerks a circular, notifying them of the approval of the machine, and thus spreading the information throughout the Commonwealth.

The Bardwell Votometer was used in the city of Northampton at all State and city elections for four years (1900 to 1903, inclusive). At the last State election, however, the city authorities discontinued its use; for what reason this office has no official knowledge.

In 1903 the duty of examining voting and counting machines, etc., was transferred to a board of experts, created by chapter 368 of the Acts of that year. This board has examined and approved during the past year one machine, known as the Johnson.

It is apparent from the foregoing résumé that, to some extent, at least, Massachusetts has interested itself in voting machinery, and that it has also had some experience not wholly inexpensive.

My attention has been called by the chairman of the Board of Voting Machine Examiners, Richard P. Elliott, Esq., to the fact that there is no provision of law for a bond to indemnify cities and towns which purchase and use voting machines, counting machines or ballot boxes, for any expense, damage or inconvenience they might suffer by reason of suits for infringement of patents.

It is also suggested by Mr. Elliott that the Treasurer and the Auditor should be relieved from the duty of making regulations and furnishing instructions for the use of machines.

In both of these suggestions I concur, and recommend that the law be changed accordingly.

CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT.

By section 3 of chapter 380 of the Acts of 1904, the corrupt practices act, so called, was amended by requiring returns from candidates for nomination to public offices within seven days after the last day for filing nomination papers, and from candidates for election within seven days from the date of the election.

Much misunderstanding appears to have existed regarding the meaning of these amendments, as will appear from the following facts :—

There were received from candidates for nomination a total of 1,251 returns, of which 404 were premature, 244 were late, and 118 showed payments other than to political committees. The number of returns transmitted to the Attorney-General, as apparently in violation of law, was 377. There were 637 returns of “No payments.”

There were received from candidates for election a total of 510 returns, of which 322 were late, and 78 returns showed payments other than to political committees. “No payments” were reported in 255 cases. The number of returns transmitted to the Attorney-General, as apparently in violation of the law, was 342.

There were also received from treasurers of political committees 247 returns,—an increase of 79 over 1903; and 172 certificates stating that the aggregate receipts or disbursements did not exceed twenty dollars,—an increase of 73 over 1903.

Ninety-two of the returns and 14 of the certificates were transmitted to the Attorney-General, as required by law.

An examination of the returns and certificates, as required by law, disclosed violations of the provisions of said chapter in 825 cases, which were accordingly reported to the Attorney-General.

“LUCE ACT.”

The provisions of chapter 454, Acts of 1903, “An Act to provide for joint caucuses or primaries of all political and municipal parties,” were accepted by 21 cities and 127 towns at the State election held Nov. 3, 1903.

Chapter 41 of the Acts of the year 1904 rendered said provisions inoperative in towns unless the town, at an annual town meeting, again voted that primaries shall be held therein.

At their annual town meetings in 1904 the towns of Middleborough and Groveland so voted.

Chapter 377 of the Acts of the year 1904 provides that cities which have accepted the provisions of said chapter 454 may revoke their action after said provisions have been in force for at least one State and one city primary.

Under the provisions of said chapter 377 the following cities have revoked their acceptance : —

Brockton.	Holyoke.	Springfield.
Chicopee.	Lynn.	Taunton.
Everett.	New Bedford.	Worcester.
Haverhill.	North Adams.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. M. OLIN,
Secretary.

NUMBER OF ASSESSED POLLS, REGISTERED VOTERS AND PERSONS WHO VOTED AT ELECTIONS.

Apparent inconsistencies in the report may be accounted for, in part, as follows:—

First. The number of assessed male polls includes aliens and other persons who are not qualified to become registered voters.

Second. The number of registered male voters includes persons who are exempt from taxation and therefore are not included in the number of assessed male polls.

Third. Many names of voters on the list at the State election are, by reason of change of residence, erased from the list of voters at municipal elections.
